Bordeaux, Oct. 8.—According to a telegram received here to-night the King of the Belgians has marched out of Antwerp at the head of a portion of his army to give battle to the Germans.

London, Oct. 8.-According to dispatches from Amsterdam an expeditionary force of great strength, consisting mainly of artillery and naval detachments of heavy guns has been rushed to Antwerp from the territory west of Ghent and tonight has manned the inner ring of forts, relieving the Belgian defenders who have been withdrawn to the city proper and held in reserve.

Five German army corps, numbering approximately 125,000 men and supported by 16-inch (42 centimetre) and 10-inch (28 centimetre) siege guns, who effected a crossing of the Nethe River near Lierre on Tuesday, have broken through the outer ring of forts and now are approaching the inner circle and are conducting a furious bombardment of the city with deadly effect,
